

STABILIZATION MOVE NEAR Reveal Agreement That Brought Russia Into War

Yalta Secret Agreement Is Now Revealed

Price Demanded By Russia
For Entering Japanese
War Is Disclosed

"BIG THREE" PACT IS MADE PUBLIC (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(INS)—The State Department revealed today that the "top secret" Yalta agreement giving the Soviet rights in Manchuria as well as possession of Sakhalin and the Kurile Islands was the price demanded for Russia entering the Japanese war.

These arrangements were disclosed in publication of the "Big Three" agreement which has been the subject of long and heated debate.

Pledges Made

Despite China's absence from the conference President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill pledged Premier Stalin in the return of rights lost in Manchuria when the Japanese took over in 1920.

It also assured that the present status of Outer Mongolia, as the Mongolian peoples' republic be preserved.

However, in view of China's absence, the agreement provided that matters affecting China's interest should be regularized in a treaty of "friendship and assistance" between Moscow and Chiang Kai-Shek national government. This was later done.

In reducing the Russian entry into the Far East war to writing and setting a price on it, the document went further than most diplomatic observers had anticipated.

Contents of Document

The document said: "The leaders of the three great powers—the Soviet Union, the United States of America and Great Britain—have agreed that in two or three months after Germany has surrendered and the war in Europe shall have been terminated the following points will become effective:

1. Striking crews will immediately return to work.
2. Any wage agreement resulting from arbitration will be retroactive until January 1—the date of expiration of the previous contract.
3. The government will surrender seed tugs and eliminate itself from the towboat picture.

Favorable action on the arbitration proposal was predicted by Joseph P. Ryan, ILA president.

Sun Spots Hit Solar Plexus Blow

Two large sunspots have succeeded in jamming radio communication with Europe and Asia, have disrupted airplane flights through interference with radio reception, have created spectacular aurora borealis displays—and kept scientists at their super-telescopes for many days. The above photo, taken at Mt. Wilson Observatory, Los Angeles, shows the largest sun spots ever recorded in solar history. One spot alone has a diameter of 60,000 miles—which is seven times that of the earth. Figure at top indicates the width of the sun.

Tugboat Strike Settlement Is New York Hope

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(INS)—Bleak weather forecasts failed to dampen hopes in an almost fuel-less New York today for speedy settlement of the week-old strike of barge and tugboat men.

Committees representing worker and employer factions in the dispute have agreed to recommend arbitration of their wage problem to respective membership meetings during the day.

Should the new proposal prove acceptable to members of Local 333 of the United Marine Division, International Longshoremen's Association, AFL, and to representatives of the 92 towing companies involved, the following points will become effective:

1. Striking crews will immediately return to work.
2. Any wage agreement resulting from arbitration will be retroactive until January 1—the date of expiration of the previous contract.
3. The government will surrender seed tugs and eliminate itself from the towboat picture.

Strike Ties Up Transportation In Philadelphia

Street Car, Bus, Elevated And Subway Service Halted In City

10,000 EMPLOYEES ARE IN WALKOUT PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11—(INS)—CIO Transit Union officials today reported the strike of 10,000 operating employees was "100 per cent effective," leaving Philadelphia, the nation's third largest city, without streetcar, bus or subway-elevated service.

J. B. Dougherty, president of the local whose strike has yanked 3,000 Philadelphia Transportation Company conveyances out of service, told International News Service this morning: "The strike is 100 per cent effective. There has been no trouble. Everything is going along as scheduled."

Seek Quick End of Tieup

The United States Conciliation Service, meanwhile was expected to make further attempts today to bring a quick end to the paralyzing strike which has left some three million daily users of public conveyances stranded in the Quaker City.

Both the Pennsylvania and Reading railroads reported that although as many extra cars as possible were being put on many persons still were being left on station platforms.

In mid-city Philadelphia, police lifted all parking restrictions as an aid to motorists who were bringing loads of men and women to work under "share-the-ride" arrangements.

The Bell Telephone Company appealed to radio listeners this morning to "make only essential calls during the present emergency."

Situation Quiet

Police reported the situation was "quiet."

An example of the ingenuity of the American boy and girl was shown today when many of them showed up at public schools on roller skates. Thousands of other persons triggered long blocks to work and on the whole transportation in the Quaker City was on a "catch-as-catch-can" basis.

Despite eleventh hour intervention by the federal government, streetcar, bus and subway-elevated service was turned off promptly at 12:01 this morning.

The union, which has steadfastly refused to negotiate, has stated—(Continued on Page Two)

New York Woman Listed As Suicide

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(INS)—Socialite Mrs. Josephine C. Benedict Sharpe, 27, was listed as a suicide today by police who said her death was caused by a dose of 50 sleeping tablets.

Mrs. Sharpe, heiress to the Remington typewriter fortune, was found dead in her home Sunday by her husband Dr. J. Douglas Sharpe. He had been released from the army last month after three years of service.

Sharpe told police he and his wife had quarreled shortly before the tragedy, and that when he returned to her room to make amends he applied artificial respiration until convinced she was beyond medical aid.

Western Union Strike Is Ended In New York City

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(INS)—Full local and overseas wire service was restored to the New York area today when a halt was called to the 34-day-old strike of 7,000 Western Union employees.

A vanguard of 300 workers returned to their posts at 12:01 a. m. Ralph H. Kimball, vice president of the company, said however that normal service might not be achieved for two or three days. He said time will be required to replace some unskilled workers, including messenger boys.

Settlement of the strike was negotiated by Justice Aaron J. Levy of the state supreme court. The agreement calls for the American Communications Association, CIO, to sign a contract as ordered last December 29 by the National Labor Board.

That contract called for an average 12½-cents-an-hour wage increase.

American Cavalry Troops Stand Guard At Tokyo Palace

TOKYO, Feb. 11.—Steel-hatted American cavalry troopers stood behind heavy machine guns in front of the Japanese imperial palace today, alerted for possible uprising against Americans by Japanese underground movements.

American authorities got wind that a Japanese secret society, with the slogan "willingness to die for the emperor" had been meeting recently.

It was reported that the Japanese secret society at a recent meeting had decided the time to strike was today—the anniversary of the founding of the Japanese empire. Guards were doubled at all im-

Huss Says No Hunger Exists In American Held Zone Of Germany

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(INS)—Pierre J. Huss, International News Service foreign correspondent, said today there is no hunger in the American-occupied zone of Germany and no indication of possible famine.

Huss, who returned to this country yesterday on the Queen Mary, said he saw no evidence of undernourishment, though the Germans are more interested in food than they are in politics.

He added that one of the reasons German women are so eager to fraternize with the G. I.'s is the assurance of getting good food. He said: "Fraternization is widespread and there is increasing evidence that many G. I.'s wish to marry German girls. It will only be a few years until a ship will be coming to New York loaded with German wives and babies of U. S. soldiers."

Death In Front Of Firing Squad For Gen. Homma

By PAT McLAUGHLIN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MANILA, Feb. 11.—Death in front of a firing squad was decreed by an American military commission today for Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, the "Beast of Bataan."

The death sentence was announced and a verdict of guilty on charges of permitting his troops to commit atrocities on Americans and Filipinos, climaxed by the infamous "Bataan death march."

The penalty of death in front of a firing squad was in contrast to the sentence of death by hanging meted out by a military court last month to Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita.

Yamashita was found guilty by the military court on war crimes charges in connection with the final stand on Japanese troops in the Philippines, including what General MacArthur termed the "callous and purposeless" sacking of Manila.

Specifically, the military court found Homma guilty of failing to discharge his duties as a commander by permitting brutal treatment of Americans and Filipinos by his troops.

Some UNO observers predicted Vishinsky might again invoke the veto to prevent council action should Bevin persist in his opposition to sending a mission to Indonesia to investigate charges that British troops in the area threatened world security.

Bevin opposed Russian demands for such a mission on the grounds it could deal with the question only if it had been definitely proven British troops threatened the peace and security of Indonesia.

Further Delay In Selection Of UNO Home Site

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(INS)—Further delay in selection of a permanent UNO headquarters was forecast today with introduction of site committee amendments protecting the world organization against land speculators and against definite financial commitments.

Polish delegates suggested the general assembly be given until next September to study reports of a proposed survey commission which would determine the costs of sites ranging in area from two to 40 square miles in the Stamford-Greenwich area.

The survey commission itself was proposed by the Netherlands delegation which advocated eventual establishment of the UNO site within the Stamford-Greenwich section.

Renewed Violence In Lancaster Strike

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 11.—(INS)—The six-day-old Lancaster transportation strike was marked today by renewed violence when 40 bus and trolley operators smashed through a picket line surrounding the Conestoga Transportation Company offices and car barns.

Four men were injured in the melee and six persons arrested by police. Five men were charged with disorderly conduct while the sixth person was accused of assault and battery.

The picket line thrown around the utility by the street car men's union (AFL) contained more than 200 men.

All available police were rushed to the scene of the picketing to escort the operators, mostly ex-convicts, into the barns.

President Faces Major Decisions In Steel Strike

Attitude On Bowles And Scope Of Price Increase Are Big Issues

EARLY ACTION IS ANTICIPATED (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(INS)—The White House today gave official confirmation that certain personnel changes are in prospect in the government's stabilization high command.

The White House also again raised hopes that an early settlement of the nation-wide steel strike is in prospect.

Presidential Secretary Ross said that there "might be something today on the steel strike"—but he wasn't certain.

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—President Truman was confronted today with two major decisions in settling the steel strike to release the logjam in the nation's reconversion program.

The first was whether to accept the resignation of Chester Bowles as price administrator or to promote him to the office of economic stabilization. In either event Bowles was reported finished as OPA administrator.

Second Problem

The second question confronting the president was to determine the dispute between his advisers over the amount of price increases to be allowed the steel industry.

This decision became important because his advisers were divided over the question of allowing a price increase to the basic steel industry and to all the other steel-using industries.

The main fact arising out of a weekend of controversy and rumor was that reconversion czar John W. Snyder "remained in charge of the administration's reconversion program. All contrary rumors proved false."

New Price Chief

Paul A. Porter, the present chairman of the federal communications commission, will become the new price chief regardless of the president's decision about the future of Bowles. Porter was named to this post by reconversion czar Snyder.

This outcome of the administration's inner circle controversy over the steel settlement means that the steel industry will have no price controls.

Thomas Surprised At Settlement Of Electrical Strike

DETROIT, Feb. 11.—(INS)—R. J. Thomas, UAW-CIO president, declared today that the 18½-cent an hour increase granted United Electrical Workers will have no bearing on the ultimate outcome of the General Motors-UAW-CIO wage dispute.

Thomas said "the UAW-CIO will not settle for anything less than the president's recommendation of 19½ cents an hour." He added that "in other words it's 19½ or nothing."

The union official expressed surprise at the electrical workers' settlement.

"The least they could have done," Thomas stated, "was consult us." He said General Motors electrical workers could have received the president's recommended boost "if they had held out."

"Herman Goering is certain he will swing, but he wouldn't shoot himself now even if he had a gun. He is like an eager little boy, waiting for one more chance at a world audience. And he'll get it, too, when he testifies in his own behalf."

"Among those not likely to get the death penalty are Hjalmar Schacht, the financial wizard, and Admiral Karl Doenitz. The feeling is that there is not enough legal evidence to convict them of conspiracy."

"In fact, many of our military people do not like the idea of trying the militarists on conspiracy charges. They say it is like putting West Point on trial because the military men simply fought, and lost, a war."

Snyder remains as the number two man in the government. Current reports that Bowles won a major victory over Snyder are completely false.

Scope Of Decision Problem
The president also faces an early decision on the amount of the price increase to be allowed the steel industry. His advisers, including Snyder and Bowles, have argued for a basic price somewhere between $5 and $7 a ton.

Officials are trying to decide whether the increase should apply only to carbon steel or whether it should apply all across the board, including alloy steels and finished steel products.

Sunday had all the lure of a spring day, apparently. A couple of golfers were noted doing a few practice shots on a local golf course, a youngster was sighted walking along a road carrying a base ball bat and glove.

An unusual auto mishap was noted on Highland avenue on Sunday evening about 5 o'clock. Two cars had collided in such a manner that they were partially telescoped. Both were headed the same direction. The cars did not seem to be badly damaged, however.

Pennsylvania ranks high among the ten top producers of 14 crops according to the State Agriculture department. The state carries top leadership in the production of buckwheat and cigar-leaf tobacco, producing 2,916,000 and 33,714,000 pounds respectively according to the report.

Pa. News notes that the special process developed by local authorities for the riddance of the pigeons along the East Washington street buildings some time ago has been effective. Very few pigeons are noted nesting on the buildings just east of the railroad tracks on the East Side.

Signs of Spring were observed on the Croton bus late Saturday afternoon. One passenger was laden down with pruning shears, and other equipment getting ready for warm weather when he would need equipment to trim his trees and shrubs.

Shanghai Trials Of Japs Started

The opening day session saw the defense counsel challenging the rights of the United States Military commission to try the Japanese.

Defense counsel contended that since China is not an occupied country, the United States does not have military government jurisdiction as the United States is not enforcing martial law.

Atomic Weather Control

Prof. Victor M. Hess of Fordham University, Nobel Prize winner in physics, says that atomic bombing in the Pacific may transform weather conditions throughout the world. North America, for example, may have a year of continuous rain or a year of drought, he asserts.

Professor Hess reasons thus: Because of the conductivity of the atmosphere the by-products of the bomb may be carried for thousands of miles in all directions, riding on stratospheric winds and affecting the electrical characteristics of the atmosphere in those strata that have pronounced influence on the weather.

Professor Hess's theory probably will meet a divided reception on the part of scientists—some saying he might be right and others that he couldn't be. All the layman can do is take whatever weather is in store, atomic bomb or not. Nobody has said that the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs resulted in any farflung weather changes but, come to think of it, they might have had something to do with upsetting some winter prophecies of last fall.

If Professor Hess is proved right, the atomic bomb may provide the key to weather control which would prove of unbounded benefit to crops and the health of humanity.

Still Owe For USA

Representative Stigler of Oklahoma, aided by Representative Robertson of North Dakota, is attempting to push a bill through Congress to establish a three-man court to hear claims against the government by various Indian tribes. It is asserted much of the territory comprising the United States was never paid for, in spite of promises made to the Indians at the time of acquisition.

The proposed commission would sit in judgment on these claims and authenticate those which should go to the regular Court of Claims for final action. For many years these claims have been presented to Congress, which generally acted adversely upon them because of lack of conclusive proof of legality and authenticity. Under the terms of the bill all not presented within five years of the establishment of the commission would be outlawed.

Many tribes have never had a day in court. In cases where it is proved liable, the nation should pay for the ground on which Americans live. Such action would validate the mortgages since placed on it.

Chiang Steps Out

Americans have a profound appreciation of the great services which Chiang has rendered both the world and his own nation, but they will be inclined to accept as wise and proper his implied decision not to be a candidate for president of China when elections are held under the new constitution.

Their conviction to this effect stems not only from a feeling that the generalissimo has carried a heavy burden for years and thus richly deserves a rest, but from the belief that China can best work out her destiny under a leader who does not wear the scars of the internal conflict which marked almost all of Chiang's regime.

The new deal in China, only recently effected and still resting on somewhat infirm foundations, depends for its success on cooperation and unity between the different political parties. This is everywhere admitted, by none more frankly than by the generalissimo himself. That he is now prepared, in the interest of domestic harmony, to eschew the great honor which undoubtedly would be his for the asking, is a tribute to both his patriotism and his innate unselfishness.

Americans cannot forget the debt they owe to Chiang Kai-shek for his stubborn fight against this country's foes. He can be certain that Uncle Sam will be a generous host if and when he carries out his plan to pay America an extended visit.

Don't Spoil The White House

While the Senate Appropriations committee has followed the House in refusing to vote $870,000 for the proposed west wing addition to the President's mansion, it has approved moderate outlays for completing the east wing and other necessary improvements.

It is putting it mildly to say that the grandiose scheme which would have tended to destroy the beautiful simplicity and the harmonious architectural setting of the White House has not met with public favor.

Admitting that the President's personal staff has increased enormously in the last dozen years, the time has come to consider whether it should not be accommodated elsewhere in the immediate vicinity.

The White House today, despite some additions, retains much of its original dignity and charm, expressing the democratic spirit of our national institutions. It should never be converted into a huge office building, with the home of the President a mere appendage. But if sweeping changes are to be made, they should be preceded by careful planning to avoid just such mistakes as Congress is now moving to prevent.

With February passing, the Victory gardener soon will face the inevitable.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
(Distributed By International News Service)

The Nuremberg trials are coming along nicely now. So much evidence has been piled up against the defendants that they will have to be hanged several times.

In fact the only thing that is delaying their execution is that several more countries wish to offer their best ill wishes to the departing guests.

Winnie Churchill is following the trials very closely. If Hess is convicted of trying to overthrow him, he will cable the judges "now go after Atlee."

Just about now, President Truman should be packing his sun suit to go join Winnie but so many other men are out in the fresh air he had to stay in.

The House has passed two important labor bills, an employment bill which says "every man is entitled to a job," and the Case bill which says "and he'd better stay on it."

After the Case bill was passed Phil Murray was reported to have given off sparks for three hours.

Mr. Murray had sprained his tonsils against the mild little Truman bill and had no fire power left for the Case crash drive.

WASHINGTON CALLING by MARQUIS CHILDS

No Reason For Surprise At Starvation Revelations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The reaction to the news of a grain shortage and a new threat of mass starvation in Europe and Asia has been received by some in the government with an air of shocked surprise.

There is no reason for surprise.
The facts have been fairly obvious for several months. Now we are face to face with the shameful reality that, in Great Britain, rationings are being cut to levels even below the grim wartime diet, while here, we continue to go unrationed
in the full tide of plenty.

Food allocated to be set aside for Europe has simply not been forthcoming. The top officials in UNRRA have known this. But they have apparently been too timid to speak out.

The responsibility for setting aside
food for relief rests on the Department of Agriculture. At agriculture, they blame the lack of transportation. They say that luxury goods are taking space badly needed for essential commodities.

The Agriculture department cannot pass along all the blame. The fact is that too many officials in the department think in terms of the processors of food and their profit rather than in terms of the producers and consumers.

Nothing New
This is nothing new. It rests on old established bureaucratic business relationships. When Henry Wallace became secretary of agriculture in the days of the AAA, he tried, with only limited success, to blast out a new pattern.

Perhaps in normal times this does not matter much. But these are not normal times and the task of setting aside food for relief calls for extraordinary and courageous effort which must, when necessary, override the entrenched interests
of those who are bent on normalcy
at any cost.

Current commitments for wheat to UNRRA are falling far behind what was promised. Shipments for January and February are already 190, 000 tons under schedule. The scheduled calls for 400,000 tons a month.

The most shocking failure is in fats and oils which are essential in minimum quantities for well-being.
For the last half of 1945, UNRRA
received for shipment abroad 53, 641 tons of fats and oils. This represents 17 1/2 per cent of what UNRRA had set as a requirement for the period. And these figures on requirement, it must be remembered, are always set extremely low.

For the first half of 1946, UNRRA requested allocations of 766,000 tons.
At a meeting of the combined food board, a tentative decision was reached to give UNRRA 24 per cent of this amount. That, however, is still under consideration and it may be revised upward.

Root of Problem
The root of the supply problem in this country is the way in which wartime controls were hastily removed after V-J Day. The pressure came from both inside and outside the government to end all rationing.
It was the easiest thing to do, the popular thing.

It is easy, too, to put all the blame
for this on the man in the White House. He signed the orders that ended the disagreeable restrictions of wartime.

But that is not altogether fair to President Truman. There were many who were eager to play the politics of normalcy even before the sound of the guns had stopped. They began to turn on the heat; to persuade the public that continuance of controls was part of a new deal
to regiment the country.

This line came from reactionary Republicans. It came from the National Association of Manufacturers. It even came from men such as Senator Taft of Ohio, who surely knew better.

The politics in this was crystal clear. If you could box the President by making it seem that he wanted to retain restrictions after they were unnecessary, then you could make him unpopular and perhaps influence votes for '46 and '48.
This beautifully simple, outside ignored, of course, our responsibility as a victory in the most devastating war in history. It's not too late to face up to those responsibilities, if only the President and the men around him will look at the facts.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

ANOTHER DAY
Another day, from start to end,
With time enough to play the friend;

To jest a bit, perchance to sing;
To do some needed useful thing
Or leave a heart of courage strong
By uttering just one cheering word.

Another day, from dawn to night,
With time a note or two to write
Of praise or comfort, to declare Another's woe or woe we share.
Or send a flower or pay a call
And help with various favors small.

Another day, and venturing out,
With time enough to look about
And see beyond the bounds of trade
How well for men the world is made;

How filled with "charm the hum-
blest way;
How rich with interest every day!

The State Police Say:

Back in the good old days a horse was pretty well able to look after himself and keep out of trouble if the driver let his mind wander for a moment, but that is not true of the qualities of the present day automobile, instead the automobile must have intelligent supervision every moment to keep it out of trouble.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:42. Sun rises tomorrow 6:47.

These are the days when the comic valentine pest is having his inning. The only trouble is the paper shortage has sort of cramped his style. There's not much to choose from. I suppose you want to know how we found that out?

We get what we ask for. The winner's punishment is that he starts something and then has to listen to the other fellow's whine.

The Nazis didn't start it. Ants capture many "races" of fellow insects and work them under guard
as slave labor.

A southern hill billy preacher's sermon on the text "Adam, Where Art Thou?" ran thusly:

"In the first place, every man's gotta be somewhere. Secondly, some men is where they ought to be. Thirdly, de day is what they ought not to be is gwine to find themselves what they don't want to be."

Two North Hill men were talking about women drivers.
"How long has your wife driven a car," one asked the other.
"As long as I can remember," came the reply, "but only in an advisory capacity."

Here's a little note to veterans of the New Guinea campaign, which may have escaped their attention.
Thirty of the thirty-eight known species of the bird of paradise live there.

A news note informs us that it was not until the latter part of the 16th century that close-fitting stockings were worn by women. It was realized then, for the first time, that a shapely leg became more attractive by wearing them.
We suppose that's why the women
riot at the nylon sales these days.

JUST A LITTLE CUT-UP
Barber: "Your hair needs cutting badly, sir."
Particular customer: "It needs cutting nicely. You cut it badly the last time."

One hears a lot these days about folks being too soft with their children, sparing the rod and spoiling the child, and all that.
That wouldn't hold good, however,
with the McKeesport woman who was hauled into court for beating her three-year-old daughter with a telephone, fracturing her skull.
The telephone company ought to take her phone away from her.

We can withdraw again, but we must decide whether to bring home
the boys or the bacon.

But death cannot excuse a man from criticism if his conduct caused great injustice to men who are still living.

We hear too much about "rights."
A man has a right to what he earns.
If he tries to destroy freedom, he has a right to its benefits?

We still have self-made men. Look how many have made names for themselves by first dropping the ones they inherited.

Oh, for the good old days when you licked enemies, took your loot,
and then left them to root, hog or die.

A prospective customer came into a local bank the other day and stated that he and his wife would like to open a joint account. "How does it work?" he asked.
"Well," replied the teller, "It's this way. You put it in and she draws it out."

FURTHERMORE, NO REWARD!
A classified advertisement in the weekly Hartford Gazette, at Bel Air,

A LOCAL EPIDEMIC

Father (scolding on family doctor):
"Doctor, my son has cholera and the worst part of it is that he admits he caught it from kissing the housemaid."
Doctor: "Oh, well, young people will do thoughtless things."

Father: "But doctor, to be quite frank I kissed the girl myself."
Doctor: "By jove, that is too bad."

Father: "And to make matters worse, since then I have kissed my wife every morning and evening.
I'm afraid that she too will . . ."

Doctor (wildly): "Oh, my gosh, we'll all have it."

BE A COMPANION TO YOUR CHILDREN

"The woman in the generation
before me were generally feared
before me and avoided by their children, nephews and nieces when the latter jumped over the fence. I respected them and they respected me.
Now that my own children approach adolescence, I dread the development of such a barrier between us.
What do you advise?"

Answer: Resist every middle-age impulse to become a matriarch, a mentor and a confidante to your children. Strive to be a pal who laughs when they laugh, to whom they can, without fear, confide their peccadilloes and minor sins, who can, during periods
devoted to recreation and diversion, overlook slight infractions, or wrong opinions, and who can resist the temptation to correct and contradict.

Develop into one of those parents of whom your children will always say "Mother is a good sport." Of course, you will have to maintain discipline and proper guidance.

Let your first attack be in the humorous tone of an older sister.
Such psychology will go much further toward saving your children from vices and bad company than will the long-faced "mama" and picking of the type of mother who enjoys tyranny. Of course if despite all of your amiability one of your children does slip aside, you must then handle their situation with a firmness that demands respect and obedience.

Question: How should I teach my maid to announce to guests that dinner is ready?

Answer: Have her at all times say "Dinner is served." Never "Dinner is ready." She should come to the door of the living room and try to catch your eye and then make the announcement.

Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to readers including

Great Game Of Politics

National Disservice Seen In New Effort

Washington, Feb. 11.

IT IS difficult to understand the frame of mind of the well-known men and women more or less conspicuous in the fields of literature, journalism and radio entertainment who have lent the weight of their names to the effort of the so-called Writers' Board (formerly,
it is explained, the Writers' War Board) to destroy the United Nations Organization and substitute a "true world government with a world president and a world parliament elected by the voters and with authority over all."

DETAILS of the plan vary according to the imagination of the individuals, but the assumption seems to be that the voters will choose for the world parliament only the nobles and wise men in all the world, free from the faults and frailties of the delegates to the U.N.O. and the national legislatures.
And, logically, of course, the world
president would be the wisest and best of the human race. All the nations would surrender their sovereignty to the "true world government" and thus the world would become fairer and finer than anyone ever thought of.

IT IS an inspiring conception. The only trouble is that it is impractical to the point of silliness. Considering the splendid purposes of its sponsors, and the distinction of many of them in their professions, to the average American this will seem the most cloudy, visionary and ridiculous scheme to be seriously advanced in this country for a long time. But it is more than that—it is the most untimely and potentially harmful idea of recent years. That it should be so ardently pushed at this moment seems almost incredible. That the heaviest blow to international co-operation should be delivered by the most enthusiastic friends of international co-operation (as all these men and women are) is explainable only on the ground that they have been thrown off balance by the atomic bomb problem and are in a state of panic.

FOR, here is the U.N.O., the only international organization with any real hope of success, holding its first meeting in London and making slow but sure progress toward progress, despite the inevitable obstacles.

PETITIONS BLOOMING

This is the season when petitions for candidates are in full bloom.

The crop thus far around the court house is not full but it won't be long.

In order to get a name on a ballot for such offices as general assembly, congress, and others, it is necessary to get 100 signatures of members of the party from whom the candidate is seeking the nomination.

Thus far there have been no petitions for gubernatorial candidates.

As the matter stands now there may be two candidates for the Republican nomination, Col. Daniel B. Strickler of Lancaster County and Lieutenant Governor John C. Bell of Philadelphia. The possible candidates upon the Democratic ticket are not yet in the petition stage.

stances. This country is its chief sponsor and prop. With fifty other nations we have joined in an effort to keep peace in the world and, in the interest of peace, to control the new and terrible force unleashed by science, the secret of which is in our custody. And this is the moment a group of prominent Americans, committed to its purposes and who favored the United States, now choose for assailing the UNO as wholly inadequate.

IT is just as it is trying to get on

Buying Public Is Now "Economy" Conscious

The average American household stretches pocketbooks for added savings by buying big sizes in most everything and it works the same way when you buy the 100 tablet size of St. Joseph Aspirin for 35c as you get nearly 3 tablets for 1c. For handy pocket use, remember world famous 12 tablet package for 10c. None finer, faster or more economical. The choice of millions. Always demand pure St. Joseph Aspirin.

its feet that they declare it doomed to futility and launch a project fantastic and unreasonable. It would not matter if these were the usual crackpots of politics. But they are publicity seekers. Some are identified with the American Labor and Liberal parties of New York city. And nearly all are leftish in their tendencies. But many, also, are men and women of high character, good reputation and some influence. Nor would it matter if they were content merely to promulgate their plan. That, however, is far from the facts.

ALREADY they have inaugurated a campaign to preter the terribly harassed President of the United States. Hundreds of letters are being sent all over the country urging citizens to sign petitions appealing to the President to do something they ought to know is impossible for him to do—and, if he could do, would intensify the confusion in the world. People will sign these petitions. It is a well established fact that people will sign any petition for anything. And there are lots of persons who eagerly will sign a petition solely because it is sponsored by men or women with more or less famous name.

SUCH is the human race. It does seem a pity that the UNO should get this sort of kick in the rear from its former friends just when it needs the most support. And it does seem too bad that Mr. Truman, confronted with problems at home of unprecedented gravity, should have to cope with a group such as this bent upon reshaping his foreign policy and remaking the world according to their own frightened ideas. As Mr. Edwin L. James, of the New York Times, declares, they appeal to be doing a great disservice to the world in general and their own cause in particular. It is to be hoped for his own sake that Capt. Harold Stassen, who, prior to the organization of the UNO, had certain leaning toward a world parliament, will not permit himself to be mixed up in this business. At that time the project seemed extreme, but it did not then involve attack upon the only going agency for international co-operation.

GIAMARINO-PELINO WEDDING SATURDAY

Miss Yolanda Giamarino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Giamarino, of 914 Cunningham avenue, became the bride of William M. Pelino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pelino, 1018 DuShane street, Saturday evening at 6:45 o'clock in the Italian Methodist church. Before an altar of ferns and palms, vows were exchanged by the young couple, with Rev. F. P. Sulmonetti officiating, using the double ring service.

The music for the candlelight ceremony was arranged by Mrs. F. P. Sulmonetti, and the organ selections, "Love's Confiding" and "At Dawning," were played. She accompanied Mrs. Theda Hennoh, who sang "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a white gown with satin bodice and skirt. Her long sleeves were tapered at the wrists. Her fingertip veil was caught in a net crown, edged with orange blossoms, and she wore a strand of pearls, a gift of her mother. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed white flowers.

Miss Mary Giamarino as her sister's maid of honor, wore an orchid gown with satin bodice and net skirt. She wore gardenias in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of mixed spring flowers.

Victor R. Pelino served his brother as best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception took place at The Castleton, approximately 200 enjoying the buffet luncheon. A wedding cake centered the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Pelino departed on an extended wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Pelino will reside at their newly furnished apartment at Cedar Road, Cleveland, O. Mr. Pelino was control operator at radio station WKST.

Mr. Pelino attended Geneva college and Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh, and is now enrolled in the Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland, where he is majoring in electronics. Mr. Pelino was honorably discharged from the service, having served for three years in Europe, North Africa and Casablanca, with the Army Air Force Communication Squadron.

Mrs. Josephine Simunachi Of Raymond Street Receives Message From Navy Department

Mrs. Josephine Simunachi, of 615 Raymond street, has received from the Navy Department, stating that her husband, Francis William Simunachi, Motor Machinist's Mate 1-C, who has been missing in action since November 30, 1943, is now presumed to be dead.

CHURCHILL TALKS WITH PRESIDENT

White House Says Politics Not Discussed At Meeting In Washington

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(INS)—The White House said today that politics was not discussed in the meeting between President Truman and former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said that their Sunday evening talks "did not concern the British loan or any political matters."

The president said Churchill was together at the White House from 8:30 p. m. until 11:30 p. m. Admiral William D. Leahy, president's chief of staff, was with them.

Ross said that the conversation dwelt almost entirely on the forthcoming trip the president and Churchill will make to Fulton, Mo., where the British statesman is scheduled to make an address at the William Jewell College.

Ross said that Churchill, his wife and daughter, Mrs. Sara Oliver, will fly to Washington from Florida on March 4. They will stay overnight at the White House. The president and Churchill will fly to Fulton, Mo., the morning of March 5. They will remain overnight at the home of A. P. Green, local brick manufacturer of Mexico, Mo.

The morning of March 6 Churchill will fly directly back to Washington while the president will stop at Columbia, O., where he is to make an address before a church group, returning to Washington that evening.

Churchill delayed his return to Miami until tomorrow and planned to spend a leisurely day with old friends at the British embassy.

Sun Spots Cause Much Trouble

With a pair of smoked glasses you can see it yourself, the biggest sunspot ever photographed. Teletype and radio operators, however, need no smoked glasses or cameras to tell of the 60,000 mile-long "spot" on the sun, which has been garbling messages and increasing or decreasing voltages on transmission lines at its own free will.

The cause of sunspots, whose electrical emissions interfere with the teletypes which bring you your daily news, has not been determined but it is thought that the spots are gases which have broken through to the surface of the sun and then cooled on expansion.

GOOD MEASURING TOOLS NEEDED IN HOME SEWING

Good home sewing must be done with accuracy. No woman can be accurate unless she has good means of measuring. A good tape measure is needed to take accurate body measurements so that the correct size pattern can be bought and then altered if necessary. It is helpful when laying the pattern on the material before cutting.

The most satisfactory tape measure is made of firm woven material that won't stretch and both ends are covered with metal tips to prevent their fraying or curling. The numbering should be accurate and numbers should be large enough to read easily. Measuring is made easier if the tape measure is 60 inches long and numbered from both ends. The roller type of measure is not desirable because it usually is only 36 inches long and the spring is easily broken.

A yardstick is another valuable piece of sewing equipment. It is helpful when checking grain lines on patterns and in obtaining straight cutting lines. Probably its greatest use is for measuring even hem lengths of skirts, coats, and jackets.

Another good piece of equipment for the person who sews alone is a hem marker. It is like a yardstick mounted on a stand. An adjustable marker filled with powdered chalk is attached. By means of a rubber bulb, the powder is put on the garment at the desired hem level.

A small gauge is valuable for making even seam widths and hems. A regular gauge may be bought for a few cents but one may be made whenever needed. A piece of cardboard several inches long and about an inch wide is cut. The width of seam or hem desired is measured off on the cardboard and a notch cut into it. The cardboard gauge gives satisfactory service.

Mrs. Gustave Love Dies In California

Effie Umbright Love, wife of Gustave S. Love, died at Temple City, Calif., February 2, 1946. Her death was very sudden, caused by heart failure. Gus and Effie were well-known to the people of New Castle 30 years ago. Had Effie lived until February 12, 1946, they would have been married 38 years.

Gus was employed for several years by the window glass industry in New Castle and Jeannette, Pa.

Relief Rolls Show Increase

Ramsey S. Black, state treasurer, reported today that direct relief payments made to the needy residents of Lawrence county during the week ending February 8 show an increase of $272.09 over those of the previous week.

Payments for the week totaled $1669, which was $842 higher than those of the comparable week of last year.

Fatal Stabbing Of Newspaperman Baffles Police

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11.—(INS)—Events surrounding the fatal stabbing of Howard R. Taylor, 47-year-old Philadelphia newspaperman, remained a mystery today as baffled police searched for clues.

Taylor was found dead on the kitchen floor of his Philadelphia home last Friday morning—a bloody butcher knife beneath his pajama clad body. Also in the home were his wife, Katherine, and a family friend, Miss Jean Lance, who had lived with them for four years.

Further snags in the investigation may be caused by the Philadelphia transportation strike, according to Coroner Matthew Roth. He said the inquest may be held "10 days, or even 20 days from now," and the PTC strike may hold it up "even longer."

Suggests Stewart For Nomination

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11.—(INS)—A new "big name" came out of the political rumor mill today as a prospective candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. With the party's chief to place Army Air Force Chief Carl Spaatz in the running now given up, a Philadelphia columnist came up with the name ex-Col. James Stewart, the film-star air hero, as a Democratic possibility. Stewart is a native of Indiana, Pa.

Star Explosion Is Now Visible

WILLIAMS BAY, Wis., Feb. 11.—(INS)—Astronomers said today that explosion of a star in the constellation Corona Borealis probably will be visible to early morning star gazers for another week.

The brilliant flareup of the star was first observed early Saturday by Armin Deutsch, a member of the University of Chicago's Yerkes observatory staff at Williams Bay.

Astronomers estimated the star blew up with atomic force about 1,000 years ago and has just become visible because it would take that many years for its light rays to reach the earth.

Sex Maniac Is Being Hunted At Camden, N. J.

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 11.—(INS)—Police today sought a sex maniac who bludgeoned a minister's daughter with a baseball bat and dragged her into a field near the Moravian church in Cinnaminson township.

The victim, Miss Vernon Harke, 30, attractive church organist, told police she was on her way to the church when a man leaped from behind some bushes and felled her with the bat.

As she screamed, she said, he began to drag her into the field, owners affected by the new route.

Plan Change On Route 18 Location

SHARON, Feb. 11.—Pennsylvania highway department has completed plans to change the location of Route 18 at Hermitage.

Bids will be opened February 26 for six miles of new highway. The road will cut directly across Sharon-Mercer highway at Hermitage and rejoin the present Route 18 near Morefield cemetery.

It is indicated more than $30,000 in damages will be paid property owners affected by the new route.

COST IS LOWER
HARRISBURG, Feb. 11.—(INS)—Statistics released today by the department of public assistance disclosed that the per capita cost of relief in Pennsylvania was 28 per cent lower than the average of 10 comparable industrial states. Acting Secretary Robert P. Wray said reports during December revealed the cost of assistance grants in the state amounted to 34 cents per capita while the average of the other states was 75 cents.

The survey embraced Pennsylvania, California, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and Wisconsin.

The name Idaho is derived from two Indian words, "Edah" hoe, which means light on the mountains.

General Labor Holiday Threat At Lancaster

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 11.—(INS)—The threat of a general labor holiday by 22 unions hung over Lancaster today where the Conestoga transportation company offered new trolley and bus service despite strike of 230 employees called by the street car men's union (AFL).

Thirty-three operators, mostly experienced, reported for work Sunday and placed five street cars and 10 buses in operation on 12 city lines.

Officials of the unions, affiliated with the AFL, conferred for more than three hours yesterday and while they refused to comment, it was reported plans for a labor holiday were being discussed.

A. H. K. K., international organization, said members of the General Labor Union that if the Conestoga strike was unsuccessful it would be a sharp blow to labor.

Cadet nurse, Helen Venditto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Venditto, of 805 South Jefferson street, is near completion of her five year nursing training, and at present is on Public Health affiliation for two months in Pittsburgh.

Miss Venditto is a student of Duquesne School of Nursing, and will be graduated as a nurse next September.

On March 1, she will arrive home for a 15-day visit with her parents. Recently she was honored at a gathering held at her residence, in honor of her birthday anniversary.

In connection with the annual observance of Boy Scout Week, we will have the privilege of hearing Dan Carroll, District Boy Scout Commissioner, and personnel officer of the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing Co. He will tell about the work of the Boy Scouts in Lawrence County.
